THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

A National Convention of the Republican party will meet at Chicago, Wednesday, the 30 day of June next, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for President and Vice President at the next election.

Republicans, and all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominee of the party, are invited to choose two delegates from each Congressional District, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia, to represent them in the Convention.

J. D. CAMERON, Chairman.
THOMAS B. KEOGH, Secretary.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

ROOMS OF THE
REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE,
MILWAUKEE, February 13, 1880.

A State Convention of delegates representing the Republican party of Wisconsin, and of all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominees of the party, is hereby called to meet at the Capitol in Madison, at twelve o'clock M., on Wednesday, May 20, 1880, for the purpose of placing in nomination an electoral ticket of ten electors to be supported by the party at the next Presidential election, and also to select twenty delegates, (two from each Congressional District and four from the State at large), to represent the Republican party of Wisconsin in the National Republican Convention, which is called to meet at Chicago on the 30 day of June, A. D. 1880, and to transact such other business as may be deemed necessary.

Each Senate and Assembly District is entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

The Democratic reports that Mr. Tilden will not run, is confronted with the fact that he still continues to capture numerous delegates.

It may be that the Democratic party will be compelled to climb a fence for a candidate. It does it will strike Judge Davis the first time.

All the Republican delegation in Congress from Wisconsin—except Mr. Williams, and he is for Blaine—are for Grant as a first choice for President.

When the Democrats in Congress undertake to do anything, they always manage to come out of the same hole they went in at. They never fail in giving this exhibition.

We give full particulars to-day regarding the mobbing of Mr. Parnell in Ireland. This will seem like queer treatment after Mr. Parnell has worked so hard for the cause of the suffering people in Ireland.

A. R. Corbin, of Jersey City, a brother-in-law of General Grant, died at his home on Sunday. He gained considerable notoriety in 1869 by his alleged connection with the causes which brought about Black Friday.

If Mr. Tilden is to be renominated and thereby vindicated, why not put Dr. Garcelon on the tail end of the ticket and vindicate him? It would be a lonesome piece of business to the twin frauds, to separate them.

It was generally supposed that United States Senator Bruce was a man of broad common sense, and that knowingly he would not enter bad company; but the report is that he intends to join the army of lecturers. The country expected something better of Senator Bruce.

Governor Smith has appointed a committee to investigate the management of the State hospital for the insane. It is composed of Senator Ryland, of Lancaster, Senator Sutherland, of Fond du Lac, and Senator Smith of Sheboygan. Now let us see how thorough this investigation can be made.

Mr. A. M. Thompson, formerly of the Gazette, has been in Washington, and while there interviewed Carl Schurz on the Presidential question. He is violently opposed to Grant, and will use every effort to defeat him in case he is nominated. Schurz would be satisfied with Washburne or Sherman, and might possibly put up with Blaine, though he don't like him.

The rumor that Hon. D. B. Barnes, of Delavan, member of the last Legislature, and cashier of a Delavan bank, had suddenly disappeared for the purpose of preventing his arrest, is said to be devoid of truth. He went to Dakota on business, and did not leave the affairs of the bank in any questionable condition. He will return to his home in Delavan, and if reports can be relied upon, will make it "warm" for those who have been so industriously engaged in spreading false and injurious reports concerning him.

The subject of State debts is one which is attracting a good deal of interest. It is generally presumed that States, like individuals, are most prosperous when they are free from debt, or when they are in debt, to make some progress in decreasing the indebtedness. While many States have decreased their indebtedness during the past nine years, others have increased theirs, but the aggregate decrease for that time amounts to a little over $6 millions of dollars. The total State debts in 1870 was $52,300,000, in round numbers, and in 1879, 266 millions. It may surprise a good many to know that Massachusetts, a State which boasts of its intelligence, enterprise and morals, is burdened with the heaviest debt of any State in the Union, and the debt is growing heavier. In 1840, it was a little over four millions of dollars, in 1870, it had grown to $25 millions, and by 1879, it had

THE JANESVILLE GAZETTE.

VOLUME 24

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, MONDAY, MARCH 29, 1880.

reached 33 millions. The next heaviest State debt is that of Virginia—29 millions—then comes North Carolina with its 27 millions, with no way of escape, and Tennessee groaning under its 25 millions, and Pennsylvania 21 millions. The lowest State debt is that of Colorado—123,000, and Vermont comes next with 140,000. Wisconsin's debt is a little over two millions of dollars, and has been decreased to the amount of two thousand dollars in nine years. The State stands No. 15 in the scale of low indebtedness.

A reference to the table of State debts, will show the interesting fact that in 1840, the Northern and Western States were the most heavily burdened with debt, while in 1870, the Southern States were most deeply involved. Since 1870, some of the Southern States have "sponged out" their debts, or rather by repudiation have decreased them. By this process, Louisiana, has been enabled to reduce its debt from 25 millions in 1870, to 11 millions in 1879. Other Southern States have followed the example of Louisiana, or more properly speaking, have adopted the Mississippi plan, which was the first State to endorse and practice repudiation. Since Mississippi inaugurated the repudiation system, in 1840, the aggregate debts repudiated by those States amounts to the enormous sum of 272 millions of dollars! So it seems that repudiation, as well as frauds, murders, and mid-night assassinations, is a part of the Southern creed.

Finding Drowned People.

An old Folk-Lore story: The remarkable incident of the discovery of the body of a child drowned in the River Kenet, at Newberry, in 1867, by means of a two penny lost with quantity of quicksilver put into it, was quoted by one of our contemporaries some twenty years ago; and then elicited many curious proofs of the existence of similar practices with analogous successful results, and with what is not always the case—satisfactory explanation of the phenomenon. Sir James Alexander, in account Canada, after stating that the Indians believed that a drowned body may be discovered by floating a piece of cedar wood, which will stop and turn around over the exact spot, mentions an instance which occurred within his own knowledge where the body of a person who was drowned by the overturning of his boat, near Cedar Island, could not be discovered until this experiment was resorted to.

But something more remarkable was stated by an eminent clergyman, happily still living, who mentioned that many years before, a boy who had lately come to Eton imprudently bathed in the Thames where it flows with great rapidity under the "playing fields," and was carried out of his depth and drowned. All efforts to recover the body failed till one of the masters threw a cricket bat into the stream which floated to a spot where it turned around in an eddy hole, under which the boy was found. There were I think, other instances, but these elicited from some intelligent correspondent the simple explanation of the phenomenon.

These are in all running streams deep pools, formed by eddies, in which drowned bodies are likely to be caught and retained. Any light substance thrown into the stream would naturally be drawn to the surface of the river over the center of the eddy-hole.

SENTENCED.

ELIZABETH, N. J. March 23—Ex-Comptroller Thomas B. Leggett and Daniel W. Leeds, ex-Clerk and City Treasurer, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the city, have been sentenced, the former to seven years in the State prison, and $2,500 fine, the latter to four years in the State prison, and $2,500 fine, and the latter to four years and $900.

THE MADISON ASYLUM.

FOND DU LAC, March 23—Governor Smith has appointed Senator Sutherland, of this city as one of the committee of three, to investigate the affairs of the Wisconsin State Hospital for the insane at Madison. His associates are likely to be Senators Ryland, of the Sixteenth Senatorial District, and D. P. Smith, of the Twentieth. It will be remembered that upon the question of the appointment of the committee Senator Sutherland maintained a strictly neutral position, and after the close of an exceptionally bitter debate his amendment, instructing the Governor to appoint the committee from the Senators holding over was unanimously adopted. Should Senators Ryan and Smith, who are both conservative, accept appointments as Senator Sutherland's associates, it would generally be understood that the investigation would proceed without bias or favor, the committee desiring naught to extenuate or snuff to set down in malice.

HORSES DROWNED.

BALDWIN, March 23—Yesterday afternoon, while Nathan Hopkins was fording Rush river, three miles from this place, his team of horses were drowned. Hopkins and Brown, a man with him, barely escaped with their lives. The team was valued at about $200, and was all Hopkins had by which to make a living. The town of Rush will be sued for damages for not keeping a bridge across said stream.

The recent heavy rains have flooded the streams in the vicinity so much that trains are delayed or suspended. The day express from the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad going south yesterday afternoon, ran off the track in the vicinity of Rush Station, and no train have passed this station going West since yesterday noon.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, July 30, 1879. Messrs. Morgan & Allen, 59 John St., New York City:
Gentlemen:—I consider it a duty I owe mankind to inform you of the benefit I have derived since last Sunday evening, when I took my first 40 drops of "Constitution Water," recommended by a friend, having cured him of kidney trouble. I have suffered a great pain across the small of my back, so acute that it would awaken me out of a sound sleep, but, thanks to your medicine, I am now entirely well, and have not taken six doses in all. Your remedy is well worth $10 per bottle, but the price, $1, puts it within the reach of us all.

Yours truly,

Appointment of Colonel W. B. Britton to Command the Same.

ORDERS 3 AND 4.

Governor Smith's Orders Relating to Uniforms of the Wisconsin Militia—The First Battalion—Colonel Britton Assigned to Command.

MADISON, March 23.—Governor Smith has issued general order No. Three, to-day, prescribing the uniforms for commissioned officers of the Wisconsin National Guard of like rank, the same as United States army, except the Wisconsin National Guard may wear forage in lieu of full dress cap, and epaulettes in place of shoulder straps. The enlisted men—full dress coat, dark blue, buttoned to the throat with buff trimmings; trousers of dark blue cloth with buff stripes an inch wide on seams; cap of the chasseur pattern, dark blue cloth as prescribed for officers of the United States Army. Companies now having uniforms of other styles may continue to use them as long as they remain serviceable, but when purchasing new ones they must conform to these regulations.

General order no four, forms the first battalion of Wisconsin National Guard of the Custer Rifles of Whitewater, Beloit City Guards, of Beloit; Janesville Guards, of Janesville; and Bower City Rifles, of Janesville; and appoints Wm B Britton, of Janesville, Major. The companies forming this battalion will report to Major Britton for orders, instructions, etc.

IRELAND.

Parnell Meets With an Outrage at a Political Meeting to Select Parliamentary Candidates.

ENNICORTHY, March 23.—Mr. Parnell, who since his return has carried thing with a high hand had almost assumed a Dictatorship as regards political affairs, but met with a significant check at a meeting held here to-day for the purpose of selecting candidates for the Parliamentary representation of Wexford. Mr. Parnell and two of the three candidates, Messrs. Byrne and John Barry, traveled from Dublin by the 9 o'clock train. At Wicklow and several other railroad stations large crowds assembled on the platform to see and cheer them. At Fernes, however, the enthusiasm was by no means so great as before. Many of the people shouted for Chaveller O'Cleary, who is the third candidate. When the train arrived at Enniscorthy it was received by an extremely large throng. Mr. Parnell and his friends were cheered, but the reception was lukewarm in comparison with that which was accorded to the Rev J. O. Murphy, of Fernes who had traveled down from that town on the same train. It was arranged that the meeting should be held at 2 o'clock, but the point of vantage was already occupied by the Chevaliers, O'Clearys, and six priests, and about them rallied the Chevaliers supporters in large numbers. Mr. Parnell's friends had decided that the Rev Mr. Kenny should preside, but the meeting selected Mr. Gorman, who was, however, selected by a man named Murphy. The priest flung the assault on the platform. At this moment Messrs Parnell and Barry were seen advancing at the head of a large crowd, with a band playing and green banners flying. They marched down the sloping ground toward the platform. The assembly numbered not less than 15,000. The platform was densely crowded. Amid a great scene of disorder Mr. Parnell struggled to the front of the stand. His appearance was a signal for the uproar to commence. The confusion lasted for several minutes. Yells, groans, cheers, and cries filled the air. Rotten eggs were thrown at the agitator; one of them struck him on the head. For a moment Mr Parnell appeared to be on the point of addressing the people; but, if he had formed this design, he immediately abandoned it. Silence having been in a measure restored, the Chairman, saying his stick over his head, said:

"Men of Wexford, listen to me. We come here to-day to select a representative for our county. We will hear Mr. Parnell, but we will not allow him to be our dictator."

A violent uproar then began; the crowd surged toward the platform, shouting. Several cried: "Put Parnell down; put Parnell down!" A rush was made at him by some men on the stand. They seized him, crying out: "Parnell will go down to hell!" and endeavored to drag him to the ground to the front of the railing. Father Murphy and several other priests put their arms round him and endeavored to protect him from the violence of his assailants, who continued to crush forward.

Parnell again attempted to speak. He was interrupted by cries of "You want to America to beg for Ireland, but not for Ireland. Go men your trousers?" At this the temper once more broke loose. The Chairman asked for silence. He was totally unable to obtain it. Amid much confusion Parnell retired. After he had done so several speeches were made, the substance of which was that the people would not tolerate dictation in the selection of a candidate. The result was that Mr Byrne, Mr Parnell's pet candidate was rejected. On the way to the station the crowd again assembled and hooted Mr Parnell, and the constabulary had to guard the gates of the station which were closed to keep out the hostile and threatening mob.

CONFIDENCE.

Presidential Talk at the Capital—The Three Principal Candidates—All Sanguine of Success.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The Grant men at the National Capital continue to manifest great confidence that Grant will be nominated at Chicago on the first ballot. Don Cameron being asked to-day if there was a prospect that Grant would lose some of the Pennsylvania delegation, replied that there was not, in his opinion. He said he had information which led him to believe that Grant's strength will be such two weeks before the convention that there would be no further talk of a bolt in Pennsylvania. On the other hand, at the Blaine headquarters, his friends appear to be equally sanguine as Grant's, and at the Sherman headquarters great confidence prevails, and encouraging reports are received. The rumors that any one of the three most prominent candidates will withdraw had no confirmation here. All appear to be sanguine.

The report having been circulated in Virginia that Senator Conkling favored an independent party in that State, he was asked about it, and replied as follows in to-day's Capital:

"I don't know what the Independent party is, and never heard of it before. I am convinced that there is only one party in the country worthy of connection with, and that is the Republican party. I am, furthermore, only in favor of the Republican party's nominee. I go further still, and you can state it, that Virginia, like New York and Pennsylvania, will go for Mr. Grant."

"But do you think he will be nominated in the Convention?"

"I believe I have already made myself clearly understood to you that I do believe so. If the English language is comprehended by me, I am using it intelligently when I say that I believe that Mr. Grant will be nominated—that he will be elected, and I am intensely for him."

A. R. CORBIN.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Abel Rathbone Corbin, brother-in-law of General U. S. Grant, and a well known lawyer, teacher, journalist, and politician, died to-day at his home in Jersey City. He was born at Exeter, N. Y., in 1803. In 1830 he went to St. Louis to practice law. Opportunity offered, however, for opening a High school, and Mr Corbin continued teach. Among his pupils were Miss Julia Dent, now Mrs General Grant, and her brothers. During his life as student and teacher he was a frequent contributor of newspapers, and would sometimes carry on an apparently heated political discussion in the papers. His contributions to the press of St. Louis attracted so much attention that the leading Democrats offered him the State printing if he would start a Democratic paper at Jefferson City. Mr Corbin accepted, and with Gen. Harney, formed at St. Louis the Missouri Argus, which still survives as the St. Louis Globe Democrat. He was a frequent visitor to Springfield, Illinois, where he became acquainted with Lincoln and Douglas. He was the first Secretary of the Magnetic Telegraph Company. When the Civil War broke out he was an uncompromising opponent of secession, and at the personal request of Mr. Lincoln exerted himself to keep Missouri in the Union. Mr. Corbin was twice married. His second wife, who survives him, was Virginia Grant, sister of the ex-President. He leaves no children.

FIRE-DAMP EXPLOSION.

WHEELING, W. Va. March 23.—A fire-damp explosion occurred at Geldon coal mines, Fairmont, yesterday which are now burning. Thirty men were at work when the explosion occurred. Five were seriously injured and two buried in the mines and burned to death. The names of the deceased are James Work and James Rees.

A DOOMED MURDERER.

WOOSTER, Ohio, March 23.—The jury in the Callahan-Tornie murder case returned a verdict this morning that Callahan was guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced him to be hanged. The date was not given. The scene in the court room was very affecting, the guilty man taking sentence very hard, and the cries of himself and his aged father could be heard out in the street. The latter had to be carried out of the court room.

THE DOCTORS YIELDING.

Ever since Prof. Green wrote to the Medical Record advising physicians everywhere to use the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure in their practice, it has been gaining in favor with the profession. They can find nothing which is a substitute for it. R. Caulkins, M. D., of Rochester, N. Y., says he would now prescribe it to all who are afflicted with serious kidney and liver diseases.

But before this humorous creation was completed, the author endured the terrible harassment which was to color his whole life. He had formed a deep and tender passion for Miss Odgen Hoffman, in whose family he had long been on a footing of the most perfect intimacy; and his ardent love was fully reciprocated. Irving was really casting about for some means of livelihood, which would enable him to marry--perhaps his distrust of a literary career was connected with a desire--when, almost without warning, ing, Miss Hoffman died in the 18th year of her age. Without being a dazzling beauty, she was lovely in person and mind, with most engaging manners, a refined sensibility and a delicate and playful humor. The loss was a crushing blow to Irving, from the effects of which he never recovered, although time softened the bitterness of his grief into a tender and sacred memory. He could never bear any allusion to her, even from the most intimate friends. After his death, in a private repository, of which he always kept the key, was found a lovely miniature, a braid of fair hair and a strip of paper, on which was written, in his own hand, "Miss Hoffman," and with these were several pieces of memoranda, and in ink long since faded. He kept through life his bible and her prayer-book; they were placed nightly under his pillow in the first days of anguish that followed her loss, and ever after they were the inseparable companions of his wanderings.

This memorandum, it subsequently appeared, was a copy of a letter addressed to Mrs. Foster, a married lady, in which the story of his early love was related as a reason why he had never married. It was in 1833, while he sojourned in Dresden, that he became intimate with an English family residing there, named Foster, and conceived for the daughter, Miss Emily Foster, a deep attachment. That this would have resulted in marriage if the lady's affections had not been preoccupied, the Fosters believed. Irving's biographer thinks otherwise, and gives reasons for believing that he could not at that time have entertained a project of matrimony. It is not for us to question his judgment, with his full knowledge of the circumstances; yet it is evident that Irving was very seriously impressed and very much unsettled until he drove away the impression by hard work with his pen, and it would be nothing new in human nature and experience if he had, for the time, yielded to the attractions of loveliness and a most congenial companionship, and had returned again to an exclusive devotion to the image of the early loved and lost.

AT ANDERSONVILLE.
By the Graves of 13,725 Union Heroes.
A correspondent of the Boston Herald who recently visited the site of the prison at Andersonville writes as follows: "Anderson is the name of a station on the Southern Railway, about sixty miles, or two hours ride, from Macon. It is nothing but a railroad station, and the only other thing beside the railroad which characterizes the spot is the immense Union Cemetery of some twenty acres, over which floats the star-spangled banner. The cemetery is constructed on the spot where the prisoners were buried, and the trenches were dug with such precision and regularity that the soldiers were not generally disturbed, but allowed to remain as their companions interred them, working under the watchful eyes and the fixed bayonets of the Georgia home guard. The cemetery is surrounded by a stout brick wall, with an iron gate, and is under the supervision of a superintendent, who lives on the grounds. It is a plain spot. There is not much attempt made to ornament this city of our martyred dead. It would take a great deal of even such influence as plants and flowers possess to dispel the melancholy memories that haunt this hill in the pine woods of South Georgia.

"Southerners shun the spot, but the cemetery is much visited by Northern travelers, and the register in the Superintendent's lodge contains many strange inscriptions beside the names of the visitors. One lady asks forgiveness of God for the murder of her brother, who sleeps in the cemetery. Sentiments of passionate denunciation are more frequent. Occasionally a man who was in the stockade turns up among the visitors. These men, whatever their natural temper, the superintendent says, can almost be distinguished by the effects of fear, dread, and vivid recollection, which comes back like a shock into their faces, as they again stand on the now quiet and sunlit scene of their war experiences.

BRIEFLETS.

—Lent is gone.
—March seems to be going away good natured.
—The Guards have their masquerade at Cannon's hall to-night.
—Word comes over the wires that Dr. King arrived safely in Cork yesterday.
—E. W. Lowell is on the sick list, and is threatened with inflammation of the lungs.
—Mr. A. Le Bourveau, of Watertown, arrived in the city to-day for a few days' stay on business.
—St. Patrick's Temperance Society give one of their enjoyable dances at Young America hall to-night.
—George Burpee is very low to-day, but his case is not deemed hopeless, though his recovery is a matter of doubt.
—Two vags were brought into Police Court this morning. One was discharged, and the other given ten days in jail.
—Mr. Notbohm, who was hurt by the falling of a trap door, is not recovering as expected. Erysipelas has set in, and he is very ill.
—Churchill, the saloonist, is now charged with selling liquor to minors. The alleged offense dates back to last Christmas. Justice Prichard has the case in hand, and will take it up next Saturday.
—Rev. Father Munich intends to take a trip to Europe about the month of May. His place will be supplied by another resident priest during his absence. He expects to be abroad for at least six months.
—The key to Lappin's hall has not been returned to its owner, and he is anxiously inquiring its whereabouts. It's a peculiar looking key, and somebody may have taken it with the idea of its being a store shaker, but it isn't. Bring back that key.
—Andrew Jackson has caused O. Vaughn to be arrested for pointing a shooter at him. The tuss arose because Vaughn tried to keep possession of some feed belonging to Jack, and which he was bound to hold as security for Jack's horse's board. The case was tried this afternoon and Vaughn discharged.
—A little notice appears elsewhere in this paper which will prove of interest to many as it chronicles the marriage of W. C. Phillips to Miss Bessie Hutton. The contracting parties are well known here and have many warm friends, who will not be tardy in expressing their heartfelt congratulations and well wishes.
—The first ward "distron" promises to become a center of trade. A young grocery store has been doing quite a business on that corner, and now it is said a meat market is to be established there also. The building now occupied by Gookins the jeweler, and Hutson, the fish man, is to be moved thither and used for that purpose.
—Arrangements are being made for observing Channing's birthday by some commemorative services to be held in All Souls church on the evening of April 7. Rev. Mr. Fayle, and Rev. Mr. Sewell are expected to unite with Rev. Mr. Jones in the services, and addresses are to be given also by J. J. R. Bennett, Wm. Smith, Jr., J. B. Casaday, Frank Brooks, Pliny Norcross and others. The exercises will doubtless prove of an interesting and instructive nature.

EASTER GREETINGS.

How the Churches of the City Celebrated the Day by Music and Flowers.

Easter was appropriately observed in this city yesterday. The morning opened brightly, and nature had a broad smile for all. Everybody, everything, seemed happy. The churches were the chief centers of attraction, and thither wended the crowds of gaily dressed men, women and children, and seldom have the pews in all places of worship been so filled with attendants. The floral decorations were not so elaborate and not so general as last year. Some of the churches whose one year ago were made into charming bowers, were yesterday as bare of floral beauties as though there was no great event to be commemorated. In the Congregational, Baptist and Court Street churches there were only the usual pulpit bouquets. The most elaborate decorations of the day were at

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Here there was a profusion of living green and bright blossoms. Above the superaltar, and partially covering the window, was the crimson curtain bearing in white letters "The Lord is Risen." On each side of the altar stood a wire stand covered with potted plants, some of them in bloom, and making two rich mounds of beauty. The font was almost hidden by twining vines, and plants, and above it rose a large pyramid of flowers, while upon either side stood smaller ones. There was also a cross of cut flowers, and from the gas brackets were hanging baskets. The gas posts in the church were all wreathed in green, and around the organ was a profusion of plants, and bouquets graced every available nook. The effect of all this elaborate decoration was strikingly beautiful, and it seemed as if one would never get tired of looking and admiring. The service was such as to bring in a large portion of musical work on the part of the choir, who under the direction of Prof. Sweet performed their part well. The other members of the choir were Miss Patten, Miss Maggie Hulihen, Miss Bowerman, Miss Annie Randall, Mrs. Wm. Ruger, and Mr. Bladen. Miss Jennie Stevens served as organist. The church was so crowded that it was with difficulty that seats could be found for all, and during the day there were many visitors who dropped in to see and admire the decorations.

At four o'clock in the afternoon there was a children's service which drew a large crowd again to the church. An Easter story was read, the children were provided with cards and eggs, and the usual ritualistic service was observed. The Trinity Episcopal Church was also appropriately decorated. Upon the altar stood a very beautiful cross of cut flowers, in which callas were prominent. There was also a stand of blooming plants, whose bright and varied tints made fully as beautiful a combination as though they were in bloom. An elegant basket of bright flowers decorated the front of the lectern. Then there were bouquets for the altar, and plants placed in all the convenient resting places, so that while the decorations were not as elaborate as last year, yet they presented a very pleasing appearance. The service was an appropriate one, and the musical portion was made especially attractive, the choir, consisting of Miss Hattie Dearborn, Miss Emma Joselyn, Miss Ida Schickler, Mr. George Gookins, and Mr. G. K. Colling, having made thorough preparation under the direction of Prof. Titcomb, who serves as organist. The rector publicly thanked the singers, and bespoke his appreciation of the unusually enjoyable music given, and his expression was but the echo of the feelings of all who attended the services at that church yesterday.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The pulpit was graced by bouquets, and on each side were stands of flowers. On each corner of the platform was a grouping of plants, and the whole presented a very pleasing appearance. For the use of the Sunday school a large cross, six feet in height, had been made. This was used in an exercise for the little folk. The cross seemed of green with a border of gold, but on removing the green it showed itself to be all golden and bearing these words "The Lord is Risen." These letters were all filled in afterwards by the flowers from button hole bouquets, so that it presented a beautiful sight indeed.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

Here the decorations on the wall above the pulpit had remained since Christmas, and being supplemented by the Easter decorations of the pulpit and platform, gave a very pleasing effect. Each corner of the platform was graced with plants in which lilies towered above the rest. The table in the altar served a foundation for a beautiful grouping of plants. On each side of the pulpit were stands supporting potted plants and flowers. A cross of cut flowers stood forth brightly before the pulpit. There was an abundance of geraniums, foliage plants, vines, etc., making the whole seem like a bower.

ALL SOULS CHURCH.

A stranger entering this church during the opening part of the service yesterday morning would have almost been led to believe that he had wandered into an Episcopal church. The responsive service, arranged for the use of the Society on this occasion, was being heartily entered into, and consisted of prayers, chants, and responses by choir and by congregation. The pulpit was hidden by a mass of flowers and plants, and upon each side were stands loaded with floral beauty, and the brackets were used in holding up other plants. Seated at the rear of the platform were six young misses who served as a choir to supplement the usual singers and the musicians who sat in front, about the organ. The opening portion of the service was ritualistic, and then came exercises by the children. Recitations, songs and declamations. Mr. Jones gave a short talk on "It is beautiful to live," and Easter cards were then distributed, bearing those same words upon one side, bright pictures on the other. Mr. Jones took occasion to answer the question so often asked as to why All Souls church should observe Easter. He explained it as a spring festival, rather than the Christ's resurrection. The services were of an interesting nature throughout and seemed to delight old and young alike.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The usual services were held at this church. Low Mass at 8:30. The subject of the sermon by Father Munich was "Christ is Risen." A large number partook of the communion. High Mass was said at 10:30 o'clock. The text of the sermon was from Isaiah 11:3—"His grave will be glorious." The anthem "Vide Agnem" and Farmer's mass in B. were most excellently rendered by the choir. Haec Dies, from Cherubini, was finely given by Miss Nellie Murphy and Mr. J. H. Burns. In the afternoon there were a benediction. All the services were largely attended.

ST. PATRICK'S CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The day was duly observed here, and the services were very largely attended. The three altars were beautified by the presence of a large number of potted plants, arranged tastefully, and presenting a pleasant appearance. Special music was given and the choir did excellent work. Miss Clara Reed presided at the organ, and the singers were Miss Belden, Mrs. Nelson, Miss Hickey, and Messrs. O. N. Vankirk and J. E. Sargent.

Most popular New York Hotel, the Astor House.

THE PARISH MEETING.

This morning the Trinity Episcopal church folk held their annual parish meeting and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

Wardens—J. B. Doe, Sanford A. Hudson.
Vestrymen—E. T. Foote, J. C. Fox, J. C. Metcalf, O. B. Ford, E. G. Harlow, H. McElroy, H. Bump and H. Merrill.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTISS & EVERSON, DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 43 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m. 40; at 3 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. 26 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. 45 above. Clear.
The indications to-day are, for the upper region, clear or partly cloudy weather, cold northerly winds, generally veering to warmer southeasterly, rising, followed by falling barometer.

THE CARRINGTON CONCERT.

To-morrow evening at the Opera house is to be the grand concert by Miss Carrington and the Mendelssohn Quartet Club, of Boston. Our musical loving citizens are looking forward to it as a big treat, and they will not be disappointed. Miss Carrington has appeared in opera in the largest theaters in Italy, and has won the highest praise there, and her appearance in concerts in New York and Boston, has created the most enthusiastic furor among all connoisseurs. Being a native and resident of our own State, her wonderful career has been eagerly watched here, and she will be given an enthusiastic reception in every city of the State, which she honors by her presence and voice. The Mendelssohn Club has also a reputation which needs no bolstering up. Wherever they appear they win their way by their merit and cannot fail to do so. Although there is but one of the originators of the Club who is still with them, yet in the changes which time always brings, the reputation of the Club, has increased constantly since its first appearance thirty years ago. Those who miss this rare chance to hear true music will indeed miss much.

OPENING THE BUSINESS.

Messrs. Burdick & Kimball have opened up their stock of agricultural machinery in their warehouse near Fifield's lumber yard, and are pushing trade lively. They have a good stock, and are wide-awake men, and propose to make a lively season of it.

An Elegant Preparation.

designed to meet the public want for a natural hair dressing and restorative, is found in Parker's Hair Balsam. It acts like magic, commencing at the very roots, removes Dandruff and all humors from the scalp, and never fails to restore gray or faded hair to its original youthful color and beauty. Falling hair is immediately checked by its use, and it produces a growth of beautiful young hair, soft, glossy and luxuriant that surprises everyone. These properties added to its exquisite perfume and purity of composition, render it the growing favorite at the toilet table everywhere. Sold in large bottles at only 50 cents and $1.00 by all first-class druggists.

CITY NOTICES.

Cases in which the heart is weak and irregular in action, are soon restored to health and regularity by Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites. As persons whose heart's action is feeble are most susceptible to the influence of cold, it is in the advent of the cold season its use is especially advised.
